

Как употребата на по-голямо количество алкохол влияе на тялото?

A central illustration of a human figure, showing the torso and legs. The figure is facing forward, with arms at its sides. The torso is shaded in a light gray, and the legs are also shaded in a light gray. The figure is wearing black briefs. Surrounding the figure are several empty, rounded rectangular boxes, intended for students to write down the effects of alcohol consumption on the body. There are five boxes on the left side and five boxes on the right side, arranged in a staggered pattern around the central figure.